The teachers will move extra clothes, blankets and anything else that belongs to your child. If you have any questions, feel free to ask! You can also stop in and see your child's new teachers at any time!

Monthly Theme:

This month our theme is Back to School and All About Me. the teachers will be teaching the kids more about numbers, letters, and colors. They also will be learning more about the kiddos!

How You Read to Your Child Matters

When reading to infants, point to and name the pictures in the book. For toddlers and preschoolers, ask the child what he or she thinks about the story. Let the child complete rhymes when reading poems. It's okay if the child has a short attention span — of if your infant tries to put the book in his or her mouth! Simply choose shorter books at first. Another great technique for reading with young children is “decontextualized” talk, in which the conversation goes beyond the words and pictures in the book. Make connections between the story and the child's own experiences. For example, if a character is eating, ask the child “What is your favorite food?” Discuss the meaning of the text. For example, “Why do you think he's laughing?” Explain the meaning of new words. “A kitten is a baby cat.”
